

Headless Writing

The monolith remains the source of truth while ideas take new forms for each reader.

One text, many forms

Human meaning stays within

Source truth still remains