

Short Social Post

You can't eliminate faction; the durable goal is to control its effects.

You can't eliminate faction from a large community-liberty and differing interests make that impossible. The durable goal is to control its effects: protect minorities, widen representation, and make coordinated domination harder, whoever holds the numbers.