

Short Social Post

Move from "what am I owed?" to "what are we building together?"

At Opis, Alexander's soldiers heard change as contempt and replacement. Their revolt grew from accumulated grievances and lost status. The lesson for any team: name the sacrifice, restore belonging, and move from "what am I owed?" to "what are we building together?"