

Standards Without Standardizing People

A repair shop can standardize outcomes without standardizing people.

A repair shop can standardize outcomes without standardizing people. Use book times and procedures for accountability-not to replace judgment. Reliable results are strongest when skilled humans still have room for variation, curiosity, and responsibility.